Focus Ingredients

Hyaluronic Acid L-Sodium Hyaluronate is the purest form of hyaluronic acid and acts as a humectant to bind moisture in the tissue. Cococin (Natural Plant Growth Factor) - An extract from green (immature) coconuts. The endosperm nourishes the growing plant and abounds in proteins, amino acids, sugars, vitamins, minerals and growth hormones that are essential to promote tissue growth. Rhodiola Rosea Root Extract - An exciting, innovative new ingredient for skin care products offering adaptogenic thermal stress protection. Rhodiola Extract assists the skin in adapting and reducing the stress incurred when it is exposed to varying temperature fluctuations. Studies have shown it has anti-stress, antioxidant, immune enhancing, anti-fatigue, and anti-cancer effects. Red Clover - Contains a number of large chemicals with beneficial properties, including allantoin (anti-inflammatory, antioxidant, keratolytic), biochanin-A (ant mutagenic, chemo preventive, estrogenic), caffeic acid, myricetin and eugenol (antibacterial, analgesic, anti-inflammatory), genistein (phyto-estrogen) Pueraria Mirifica Root Extract - Extract of the tuberous root of Pueraria Mirifica, an herb which grows in the forests of Thailand, is a folk remedy used for rejuvenation of men and women. The Thai name is White Kwao Krua or Kwao Keur. The biochemists and physiologists believe that the active component responsible for its effect on skin (skin thickening and decrease in wrinkling) is a phyto-estrogen called miroestrol. L-Carnosine - Studies have found that aging human cells are rejuvenated when treated with L-Carnosine. The cells rapidly recover their youthful appearance with regular use. L-Carnosine helps prevent cross-linking of collagen and other proteins in skin. These studies related directly to skin aging, because cells from elderly individuals divide fewer times. It is considered a super antioxidant that shields skin from free radical damage. Spin Trap - The Spin Trap component is an activated nitrogen lattice-work that redirects free-radicals along paths resembling sound waves through a tuning fork or bell. The spin trap we use, PBN, was developed by physicists and organic chemists. These specialized molecules sequester damaging free radicals. Spin traps are used to detect and identify free radicals.
